APA Citation Style

The information on this handout is derived from the 6th edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association.

Internal Citation

For more examples, see the APA Publication Manual, 6th edition, p. 177 or http://www.apastyle.org

Author’s Name in Text:

Miele (1993) found that the “the ‘placebo effect,’ which had been verified in previous studies, disappeared when [only the first group’s] behaviors were studied in this manner” (p. 21).

Author’s Name in Reference:

She stated, “The ‘placebo effect,’ . . . disappeared when behaviors were studied in this manner” (Miele, 1993, p. 21).

References

The References list should appear as a separate page at the end of the paper, numbered as though it were a page in the paper. Double-space between and within entries. Entries should be alphabetized by first word of entry. Second and subsequent lines in each entry should be indented five spaces.

Electronic Sources: [For more examples, see the APA Publication Manual, 6th edition or http://www.apastyle.org]

Article from a Library Database with DOI:

[If available, DOI should be listed along with citation information on first page of article.]

Article from a Library Database without DOI:

[Undergraduates may want to use this example, listing the database name in place of the DOI]

[Instead of DOI, give the home or entry page URL of the journal.]

[If the article is from a discontinued journal and/or the journal homepage URL is not readily available, give the home or entry page URL for the database.]
